Hello [REDACTED]. No you haven't missed anything and please don't worry, I wouldn't allow that to happen.

With the current restrictions in place on travel and a 'work from home' order from the government, the Inspector is unable to get to us, so the matter will regrettably be delayed. We do not have a timetable yet, but as soon as we do, we'll publish it.

Hope you're keeping well.

Kind regards

Dear Peter

[REDACTED] thinking that, somehow, I have missed the announcement of the start of the Airport Planning Inquiry. This is partly because I have, for the duration of the pandemic, [REDACTED] subscribed to the JEP online; viewing it on my i-pad means I often miss bits and pieces.

Any idea of timeframe?

Best wishes for 2021

I see that [REDACTED] has been appointed as the Planning Inspector. Do you have any idea of timeframe? I'm hoping that, given the state of the world, Christmas, etc, we will be given a decent number of weeks from the publication of the notice to the deadline for submissions. When will the notice appear in the JEP?

I agree [REDACTED], although one's preferences these days seem somewhat constrained by necessary, but unpleasant restrictions.

There will also be plenty of time to gather documents. Once appointed, an Inspector will allow several weeks for written submissions. But good to hear that you are ahead of the game.

Thanks [REDACTED]

It's as I suspected. We would, of course, like to make our oral submissions in person rather than on Zoom! We are pulling together our written material.

Dear [REDACTED] – good morning and I hope you [REDACTED] are well.

The Minister is currently considering the Expressions of Interest received from Inspectors. [REDACTED] will then appoint one of them to carry out the Review. Personally, I can't see anything taking place this year, but there is the potential to start work early in 2021. Inspectors have referenced in their submissions the ability to carry out Hearings virtually. This has worked well in other jurisdictions and is a process we used over Lockdown with the Planning Committee. Of course, in this Review the bulk of the work will be a document review by the Inspector before any Hearing, so there is nothing to stop that element commencing, once an Inspector has been appointed.

I suspect the Minister may have other matters on his mind today, but we hope to return to normal business soon.

Kind regards

Dear [REDACTED]

What is the likely timeframe for the Airport inquiry? I imagine the quarantine rules are making it difficult to recruit inspectors.

Dear [REDACTED]

I read coverage of the Terms of Reference in the JEP today. May we have a copy?

Dear [REDACTED] – I trust this finds you in good health.

As you may be aware, the Minister for the Environment favours a full transparent review into the above matter, with a public hearing likely.

This is just a courtesy note to let you know that today, I have written to our shortlist of Planning Inspectors to seek expressions of interest to carry out the review. We will need, in the near future, to pass the ASAP Ltd Special Aeronautical Report to the Inspector and to publish it on our website. Do you (or SJH) have any objections to that? We will of course comply with GDPR in doing so.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards
